

The problem is not that the New Jersey law is too strong, but that the federal law is too weak. Leave New Jersey's law alone..your time would be better served pursuing the people that violate the do not call list.